PRESS RELEASE – March 14th – 2013 -

Bolloré Africa Logistics Mozambique and CFM inaugurate the Pemba Terminal, Mozambique's first oil port

On March 13th, 2013, Bolloré Africa Logistics Mozambique, in partnership with the Mozambican public corporation CFM, has inaugurated the country's first oil port in the city of Pemba.

Located some 2,000 km northeast of the capital Maputo, Pemba Terminal is the first port terminal to be entirely dedicated to international oil and gas companies doing business in Mozambique. This infrastructure will ensure continuous deliveries for this sector’s key players, allowing them to operate offshore oil and gas facilities under optimal safety and reliability conditions. "Pemba Terminal will mean security for oil and gas companies, which will benefit from high-quality infrastructure, while at the same time equips Mozambique with the resources to achieve its energy development", underscores Philippe Labonne, Managing Director for Bolloré Africa Logistics.

Thanks to this new infrastructure coming online, Pemba is confirming its position as a natural gateway for the oil and gas sector, in offering great promise to Mozambique, which anticipates a near 8% growth rate in 2013.

Specialist in the logistics associated with large-scale industrial projects and enjoying close ties with firms in both the oil & gas and telecommunications sectors, Bolloré Africa Logistics Mozambique has established an effective network covering the country's entire territory with subsidiaries in all major cities: Maputo, Beira, Pemba, Tete, Manica, Nacala and Quelimane. In Mozambique, Bolloré Africa Logistics employs over 1,000 locals and provides them with training on a yearly basis.

This new port terminal reinforces the company's presence throughout Southern Africa and specifically in Mozambique, along with a renowned expertise in providing support logistics for drilling and extraction projects.
